Brandon burlsworth arkansas razorbacks

Arkansas razorbacks 1998 season brandon burlsworth. Arkansas razorbacks football brandon burlsworth highlights. Arkansas razorbacks brandon burlsworth movie.

There is a great deal of comfort that Hollywood has come close enough to the story of Brandon Bursworth in the movie Greater. Writers will always take some liberties. I have no problem with that. I laughed when I was released by a public relations man in Los Angeles, badmouthing the film. His promotional fact sheet said that the coaches told Brandon that he was still not good enough to have the opportunity to play. That's it. © Something that needs to be fixed. Burlsworth was recruited in every sense of the word. He was coveted by AU coaches. There'll be a lot of Greater coverage now in the theaters. But I wanted to find out the real story of Brandon's arrival in Arkansas and the first year. It was time to call Marty Burlsworth, his brother and all the other key figures in what I call Brandon's development as an offensive All-America guard. Start with a visit to Harold Horton, the UA recruiting coordinator for Danny Ford. Horton remembers the story well. I said Horton. Horton said recruitment is correct in every sense of that phrase. We want Brandon. We needed Brandon. But even Horton admits it took a little while before © The trainers came to this conclusion. He began with a call from Henderson's head coach, Ronnie Kerr. One thing about Division II schools in Arkansas, everyone knew it was a waste of time to recruit someone © Arkansas was planning on offering. It's easy to call and ask. Tamaranhosa Ronnie called and wanted to know our interest in Brandon, Doravante Horton said. Ronnie said he'd just timed Brandon at 170 on 40. Amber. Let me tell you about 40 times for offensive linemen, if they run 5.0 to 5.1, that's it. © Special. This is © the kind of thing we had for Lottis Harris, Greg Koch and R.C. Thielemann. They all played in the NFL. Horton hung up the phone and went up © Ford's office. He told the head coach of Henceforth we need to go get it. I think he can play for us. Ford immediately called and and Burlsworth returning for a visit to. That's when the offer for the walk-on came about. Every NFL forward I've ever had, they ran like this. Horton said. You don't know if he'll make it, but you knew he had a chance because © right indicator of athletic© ability. Marty remembers the day in Henderson. You said I was on that trip. Well, I was on all those trips. We're together every time. He got away with 5.0. I think he went into the hallway. Some things are confusing from twenty or thirty years ago, but I remember very well. I © remember they weighed him, too. It was 100 pounds. That was in the beginning of summer. Brandon has gained some weight since the end of the season ©. He won more before the time came to report to Arkansas. The next part of the story passes to Virgil Knight, Ford's strong and conditioned man. From now on, I remember everything very well. Knight said. I remember coach Harrison High (Tommy Tice) telling me at the star© game of the that Brandon was coming to the dog. He said, "Virgil, he'© a good man and he tells him well because he's going to do whatever you tell him exactly." Those were real words. Knight is © a housebuilder in Fayetteville now. He built bodies at © time, or rebuilt them. I'll never forget when Brandon came to school, Knight said. He came in and it was Pillsbury Doughboy. He was 309. I thought, "Tommy, what did you send me?" But Tommy was right. You had to tell him what to do and he'd do it. I remember the first time I heard about Brandon Burlsworth. It was in October practice, the first autumn. Virgil sat next to me in the middle of practice. I asked him about the young players, not yet with the team. We have some good ones, Knight said. Remember, it was Danny's first recruiting class. He worked to find some linen men. So we had guys like Grant Garrett and Russ Brown. Â€Â€ Â€ Pointed to Garrett and Brown. They were gonna play fast. And then there was a Harrison walk-on. He said, "He came heavy, but he's already dropped 30 and I bet we'll be able to put the weight back on it by Christmas. He might actually run away. We really like him. Our line coach, Mike Bender, loves the way he moves his buns. © It's a great sign that a man of line can play. Mike likes him. So am I. © Bang, what a great evaluation it turned out to be. Knight was on target. We put Brandon on a diet, just mostly vegetation,"Knight said. He lost 309 the first day we weighed into 252 when we sent them home for Christmas. I remember that day. Brandon came to me and asked me if I still had to eat from the green line. Here's the deal, the lunch people had different color tulips on each tray. If it was a green dub, Brandon could eat it. If not, I couldn't. He did what we told him. He ate only the items on the green label. Brandon was ready to do the laps if he didn't have to eat from the green mouse trays. My next big memory of Brandon came from a visit with UA Rocky Feiker's assistant during the 1996 season. Brandon was starting with the right guard. I asked Felker, Ford's offensive player, if he could point out the best player in the offense. "It's our right guard," Felker said. Harrison's second, Burlsworth's second. With this, Felker posted a tape. He pointed out Burlsworth to block three in a piece. "He will involve the man on it, release it, brush a enough linebacker he can't make the piece and then watch it, he goes to 20 yards in the field and get in the way of security," said Felker. "That's how you have an 80-yard race. © a heckuva player and can be an All-American before finishing. © a trainer beating on the head of the nail. Curiously, Garrett and Brown They saw him as soon as the coaches did. Maybe they knew in the © Felker Felker Pock But they don't even remember Burslworth in the freshman outfit. I'm telling you, I don't remember Brandon in the first half. Garrett said. I know he had to be there because we know the story. But he probably didn't say a word in the dress. I don't remember him in the first semester. Garrett, Brown and Burlsworth wrote four years in a row, 1995-98. They all reported together in the fall of 1994, and all Redshirted. I know Brandon and I met at the © game, Garrett said. We played against each other in our senior years and I know we beat them. But I don't remember Brandon at that game. We're going to UCA in Conway for star camp. He came out of the water and he was sitting on a concrete wall. I introduced myself. I said I was going to UofA. He said it was, ©, like a walk-on. Now I remember this as clear as the day, I thought. "He's not going to play." I just haven't seen it. Brown also © m doesn't remember Brandon in the first half. If I remember this correctly, when we came back in the second half before spring training, you met him so why he was doing things in our drills that showed extra effort, asked© who was Brown. The coaches would talk about him. We noticed it. It was extra effort when we entered the field and extra effort when we got up. You noticed him. That was just a sign of what was coming. Brown said the film got it right when they showed Brandon late© at night throwing a ball of remia in the practice area of Broyles Athletic Center. That was our first year to start. Said Ingente Brown. I was trying to make extra, watch as much tape as possible. I went to broyles center at 10:30 a.m. one night. He's out around midnight. I looked outside and Brandon had that © ball. He was throwing it away. He was covered in sweat, as if coming out of the pool. I thought, "Man, this guy's still out of his mind." I thought I was watching extra â € œI do not know for sure, but I think being in the movie came from me. I do not know no one else saw him. When they were writing the script, someone came to Tulsa and I sat with them for eight hours counting on Brandon. I told you about this in this interview. "All those in my interview will meet on the sock for a special display of the movie. Garrett rented a theater in Little Rock and hit Brandon's team players. Brown goes. "I can not wait," Brown said. Â € œI know some guys will be there that I do not see there are 20 years.â € Garrett hopes to see Houston Nutt and other coaches of these teams. "Coach Bender, our line coach O, think he can come," said Garrett. "He was Brandon's first coach at the water. He has fought, but we hope he can." I can not say. "Lame as I am out. I've seen the movie. Â %optimo. There are some things that are not well in the movie. Russ and I talked about something they were wrong. "There's nothing to do with Brandon Burslworth. "No, they have a scene with trainer Ford," Garrett said. â € œCoach Ford asks someone to make something. Russ and I know it never happened. Ford coach did not please nobody. "I say this, please see the movie. The bits and the pieces are more and more. It's Hollywood. Remember this, Brandon Burlsworth was sought after in Arkansas. And if someone somewhere told him he would never play, they did not say that for a long time. long.
